Says WILL ROGERS

BEVERLY HILLS.—Well all I know is just what I read in the papers. I was just reading a thing here where just exactly 100 years ago there was a long editorial in the papers asking the people not to get panicky, that they had had a bad year, but that it was a mentally healthy country, was sound, and that they looked for things to pick up, that there had been an overproduction of Overshoes, Red Underwear, knitted socks, and Newbys. You remember Newbys? They were a long nitted thing about the length of a well rope, that you wrapped and rewrapped around your neck and also tied em over your ears.

Then there was too many lanterns on the market, for the amount of night work that was being done. There was also a glut of the Market on Moustache Cups. The Men weren't buying them like the Producers had thought, they were just letting the old upper lip foliage drain right through the Coffee. It told of the evils of Mass production, that you should produce faster than the buying power. If I remember I think the Republicans were in then too. And Oh yes they were going to try and get the Farmer some relief, going to give him some ammunition so he could shoot him some meat to eat. Oh yes, they were going to work on the roads too. The President has just appointed some Commissions, one too look into and see what the Boys was drinking. Now all this was just exactly 100 years ago, so you see every 100 years we have what is humorously referred to as "depression." Its always temporary. That it happens every 100 years proves that it will pass away.

Biggest excitement over the holidays was "Young Pioneers" of New York. They put on a Burlesque of Xmas, and the birth of our Saviour, and the Xmas Spirit, that must have been mighty splitting to their Parents. A Xmas in Russia would just suit them fine. But you just try to pay the fares of any of them and offer to send em, and you would have to call out the Marines. The old Communist preaches his doctrines, but he wants to do it where he is enjoying the blessings of Capitalist surroundings. He preaches against the Pie, but he sure eats it.

Mr. Hoover weathered quite a storm with his hired hands, but seemed to have come out on top and is in better shape than he has been in a good while. The Boys have called him about everything they could think of, and as everybody laughed it off, why they have about decided to let him alone for awhile. McKellar of Tennessee just discovered Xmas week that Hoover had been in England for some time, that about a record for being behind times.

Got a nice letter the other day from Barney Baruch. I had about a year and a half ago, just before the crash, sorter half way decided to get a little dab of some kind of stock. Everybody all around me was just rolling so I wrote that it made my little loka falling asleep seem mighty little. I had never, or haven't yet, got a dollar that I didn't tell a joke for, either on stage or paper, so I know Barney might well, and having a mighty high regard for him personally, so in my little talk with him I asked him to invest in his own way a little dab that I thought I could spare.

Well I had to naturally tell him something of my affairs, so I told him what I owed, mostly on unimproved Real Estate. Well he liked to have thrown me out of his Wall Street Office, "You owe that much, and you want to take some of your money and buy stocks? Say you go home and pay your debts. Lord knows how long it will take you to do em. But what you can do, you want like him advice, he man does. He don't want to pay his debts as long as he thinks he can make an easy dollar in something else. I wouldn't invest a dollar for you anyhow, things are too high, they don't look good. Now go start paying on your debts."

That's the nearest I ever come to owning stock. (I mean outside of a few horses, and cattle). Less than a month from the day I was in his office the Bust come. So every few months he writes me and asks me how I am making out on the debts, and how much I got em whittled down. You know he is kinder the Angel for the Democratic Party, that is if you could call anyone connected with the Democrats an Angel. And he is forever trying to pay em out of debt, so I am writing him and telling him. That I am just as good a business man as he is. That he can't keep the Democrats out of debt anymore than I can keep myself. So whenever you hear of the Democrats being out of debt I will be too.

SPORTSMEN WILL SEEK BILL REPEAL

ORGANIZE TO OPPOSE SPECIAL PRIVILEGE FEATURES OF SHOOTING PRESERVE LAW

Sportsmen of Michigan have organized for the purpose of effecting a repeal of Act 249, P. A. 1929, commonly known as the Shooting Preserve Law, or the special privilege features of that law, during the present session of the legislature. No one thing has occurred for many years that has aroused the indignation of farmers and of the sportsmen in general, more than the special privileges granted by this act, and those who are interested in the discontinuance of those privileges have definitely organized for the purpose. Practically every group of organized sportsmen and farmers in Michigan has officially gone on record as opposed to the law or those features of it which provide special privileges for certain individuals, and a number of the officials of these organizations, in order to centralize and co-ordinate their efforts, have created a central committee, known as the Central Sportsmen's Committee. This committee is a volunteer group which is offering its own time to oppose what it and most sportsmen believe to be a vicious piece of legislation, while on the other hand, the forces who wish to maintain the longer seasons and large bag features of the law are highly organized, and well financed, by the same parties who are interested in maintaining for themselves these special privileges.

The personnel of the committee is most formidable, and representative of many important groups. It consists of C. A. Justin, President of the Michigan Conservation Congress; Judge Willis B. Perkins, President of the Dwight Lydell chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America; George Mattoon, President of the West Michigan Game and Fish Protective Association; Lester Walters, President of the Michigan Sportsmen's League; Dr. J. F. Peppier, President of the Kent County Conservation Association; and Thompson of the Williamston Progressive Hunting Club; Arthur G. Baumgardner, Secretary of the Dwight Lydell Chapter, Izaak Walton League of America; Ben East, well known outdoor writer and newspaper man; and Jack VanCouvering, another well known outdoor writer. In addition to this representative list, there is a large number of other groups and organizations of both sportsmen and farmers who are backing the efforts of the committee. The committee has opened headquarters at 138 Division Ave., N., Grand Rapids, and Jack VanCouvering has volunteered to act as secretary.

The committee will also undertake to advise their constituents how their representatives and senators vote on the question in the legislature. The opposition to the demand for repeal of special privileges comes essentially from a handful of individuals with both money and time at their disposal, and whose organization which is dominated by these same individuals. And, of course, it is to be expected that in the main, these individuals are at the present time enjoying or representing those who are enjoying special privileges under Act 249.

ALPENA INDIES HERE JAN 24

LUMBERJACKS WON AT CLARE LAST FRIDAY

Saturday night, January 24th, Alpena Indians will come to Grayling for a return game with the Grayling Lumberjacks. The Indians defeated the Lumberjacks recently, and the latter hope to get revenge, and as they are playing a better brand of ball than at the opening of the season, the game looks rosy to them.

"Kiki" Cuyler, star outfielder of the Chicago Cubs, plays a regular guard position on the Indians and will be a big drawing card that evening. Everybody will want to see "Kiki" Cuyler of whom they have heard and read so much.

Tonight the Lumberjacks play at Cadillac.

Grayling-Clare
Before a small crowd of 36 people, 14 of whom were Graylingites, the Grayling Lumberjacks, our local entry into the basketball sport, continued onward with their conquests by nosing out the fast Clare Merchants, at Clare last Friday, by a small margin, 20-17.

Clare used an entirely new team at the opening of the second half, with the score tied, and the locals romped to the lead, displaying a brand of basketball that maintained their lead, and plainly demonstrated the laurels of victory rightfully belonged to the boys from the Capital City of Winter Sports.

Harrison and Neal were the high point getters for the locals while Parker showed to best advantage for Clare.

The lineup:
Grayling: Neal, Hendrickson, Harrison, Wylie, Brady.
Clare: Stanley, Stanley, Johnson, Grover, Erwin.
Score: first half: 8 and 8; final score: 20-17.
Referee: Johnson (Alma).

Lake Lure, in North Carolina, is artificial. It lies near Asheville, and was made by damming a small stream in a narrow valley in the mountains. It has a shore line of about fifty miles, while its width is seldom more than a quarter of a mile. It is one of the scenic marvels of North Carolina.

JURY DISAGREED RETRYING CASE

CASE AGAINST COLORED BOYS BIG ATTRACTION

The court room has been packed at every session of Circuit Court since it convened Tuesday afternoon. This is believed to be due in part to the special interest in the case against Willie Hughes and James Gentry, both colored, charged with assault and larceny, and also to the unemployment situation, when many are idle and besides to the interest that is usual at the time of court trials.

Judge Smith occupied the bench, S. M. Atkin, the stenographer's desk and Marius L. Insley began his new duties as prosecuting attorney. When Sheriff Bubenmeyer declared that the court was open, there was hardly standing room in the court room. The attorneys present were Messrs. Alexander, Insley and Nellist of Grayling and W. C. Smith, Rosemun.

After reviewing the calendar Judge Smith dismissed the case of Mary Blachak, charged with violation of the prohibition law.

Guy Billings and Theodore Fitzpatrick plead guilty to the charge of breaking and entering in the night time.

Al Woods plead not guilty to the charge of breaking and entering, and guilty to the charge of violation of the prohibition law.

Willie Hughes and James Gentry entered pleas of not guilty to the charges of larceny.

Among the chancery cases, Hazel D. Vallad was granted a divorce from Albert J. Vallad, the court allowing $45 per month alimony.

The divorce cases of Edna Serwen vs. Herbert P. Serwen, and Pearl M. Gibbons vs. Edwin Gibbons, were dismissed.

Other cases on the calendar have not yet been disposed of. Testimony was taken in the divorce case of Iva and William Whittaker and no doubt will be disposed of before court adjourns.

Willie Hughes and James Gentry told Judge Smith that they had no means with which to engage an attorney, and also Al Woods could not hire an attorney, whereupon Attorney Merle F. Nellist was appointed by Judge Smith to act for the defense in both cases.

After a number of preemptions challenges by the prosecuting attorney the panel was finally completed and sworn in by the new county clerk, Axel M. Bassett.

Jury Disagrees
Mrs. Wood, the complaining witness, was the first on the stand and gave a review of the case from her point of view, claiming in part that Hughes and Gentry came to her home in Bonner Creek township and asked for food. Hughes tendered her a ten dollar bill in payment of the 50c charge for the dinner. This she couldn't change. She said she carried her money in her stocking where she had a large roll of bills and which Hughes attempted to take away from her, according to her story. A tussle ensued during which she said that Hughes bit her face and bruised her severely about the body. Others present during the time were Mr. Gentry, Mrs. Hill and another woman and young child. Mrs. Wood said that she begged Hughes to let her up and also asked the other to pull him off and not let him kill her. She said that she told Hughes he could have the money if he wouldn't misuse her, claiming that she feared that he would kill her. Finally when she did get up she sprang for an axe that stood near a door and then everyone got out in a hurry. Later Hughes tried to get in by breaking in a door, in which he succeeded. He grabbed the axe that Mrs. Wood was wielding and together they tussled out in the yard until Hughes finally got it away from her and threw it out of reach and jumped into the car in which was Gentry at the wheel, and said to drive like..... When asked if they had any liquor there Mrs. Wood said no, that she had not seen any. She said that she handed Gentry her money. Hughes' $10 bill was crumpled up in her hand.

Mrs. Hill substantiated Mrs. Wood's testimony partly and claimed that Hughes had given Mrs. Wood two ten dollar and a one dollar bills and it was those he wanted to get back. She said that she did not know that Hughes and Mrs. Wood were fighting and only supposed that they were fooling. She stated that Gentry had a bottle and that he, Mrs. Wood and Hughes took a drink. This, apparently, was met in accord with the testimony she gave at the time of examination.

Gentry, in his own defense, said that he too did not know that Hughes and Mrs. Wood were fighting and only supposed they were tussling. He accepted Mrs. Wood's money when she offered it to him. Hughes' story was quite similar. Apparently, he was willing to leave just as soon as he knew that Gentry had the money. Both attorneys Insley and Nellist put up strong arguments before the jury. Court then adjourned until the next morning when Judge Smith reviewed the case and pointed out their duty as jurors. The jury remained out all day and late in the afternoon decided that they could not agree and were dismissed after being pretty harshly censured by Judge Smith.

Another jury was drawn Thursday morning and the case re-tried. The second jury is still out at the time we go to press.

Testimony Gets Witness Into Trouble
Frankly testifying on the stand that he, Gentry, had a pint bottle of moonshine half full in his possession and that he gave Mrs. Wood and others a drink, clearly puts the witness into a bad hole for he thereby confessed under oath that he had violated the prohibition law. Should Hughes and Gentry get acquitted, which seems quite unlikely, they will no doubt be re-arrested on the other charge. They already have been in jail since November 9th.

SCHOOL NOTES

Dr. Fisher of U. of M. Talks

Dr. Fisher of the Extension Dept. of the University of Michigan gave us a very good talk last week. His speech consisted of things young people need to help them in future life. The main points were of freedom, tolerance, inspiration, faith and perseverance. He said his points would not be guaranteed to insure success, but men who have studied these things say that such points will surely help you on the road to success if you follow them.

"Be Yourself" was Dr. Fisher's most helpful phrase. Because one who is always listening to others whose ways are not right, is sure to go wrong.

Find your goal and work for it. Let nothing stop you. Above all be sure not to get the mob spirit; get some place, for if you follow the mob and do as they do where will you be? Say no to those who try to tempt you into the slum.

Be tolerant, look to Lincoln who could be friendly with people who were angry with him.

Dr. Fisher said that young people may get inspirations from great people, good books, paintings, music, sunsets and many other beautiful things.

Do not let yourself get off your road to the goal, keep on going and stay at your work, to not give up. And last, but not least, keep faith in God, for this alone will help to pull you through your difficulties.

Beat West Branch
"Beat West Branch", this slogan is seen in every corner of the school house. Cardboard tags are being sold at ten cents to all the students for advertisements but will act as tickets at the game.

A Good Appearance

Being nice and clean is next to being good. It is very easy to understand why this is so, for we do better things and think better thoughts when we are neat and clean ourselves.

It is always that way. Clean bodies and clean thoughts go together. The minute we grow careless about the way we look, we do not mind very much what we do.

Of course, it is hard to be spotless all the time, but the very care to take of things, just trying to be particular, has a great meaning. For people judge us by neatness and when we are clean and tidy they think of us in this way: "If that child is so careful about looking nice, no doubt he is careful about acting nice, too."

It is pleasant to have people think well of us and one of the surest ways to get them to like us is to keep our appearance neat.

A little time, a little care, Will make us welcome everywhere.

GOODFELLOWSHIP CLUB NOTES

The club met Monday evening with Mrs. Lorane Sparkes. After the business session conducted by the president, Mrs. F. R. Bates spent two years at the Islands and he has a thorough knowledge of the country and conditions there. The club was very much pleased with the talk.

G. H. S. LOSES TO GAYLORD

GRAYLING LOST A BALL GAME AT GAYLORD LAST FRIDAY NIGHT

The score was 26 to 23 and the winners came from behind in the last part of the final quarter to cop the contest.

That is a bare statement of a torrid game of basketball staged before a packed house. It doesn't tell anything of the excitement of four quarters of real struggle. Neither does it clearly convey the actual truth of the statement that the winners were lucky to actually be winners, though they must be given credit for making the fight for the game which eventually proved to be their salvation. The Grayling Northern Lights, rather clearly outshone the Blue and Gold as far as coordinated offense was concerned, and seemed to have the situation well in hand when fortune frowned and the Gaylord arch rival rode through to victory. The score sheet proves that they earned it, appearances to the contrary.

Coach Cushman started Stub Sherman and Ken Gothro at the forward posts, with Billy Harrison at center, and Laskos and Lefty Sheehy at the guards. Harrison proceeded to decorate himself with personal fouls and drew the attention of the referees at the end of the first quarter, having acquired three. He went back in for the final period and finished in the fray. Billy accounted for his share of the points. While he was out the Norm Dawson cavorted at center. Sherman's comments on the game, from the vantage point of referee, are not so complimentary. He said that the players were, sulphurous, and he departed from participation, sans chance to re-enter. Bud San Carter replaced him and they returned to the sideline in favor of Jack LaGrow. No other changes were necessary. The officiating was close but not partial to either of the old rivals.

The Grayling Seconds copped a close 13 to 7 victory from the Blue and Gold reserves. Gaylord should have a warm reception in Grayling when their representatives return.

West Branch makes its bow on the local hardwood tomorrow night and will have a veteran team to throw against Coach Cushman's Sophomores. It should be very much worth seeing. The second team tangle in the preliminary.

WEST BRANCH HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

GAME PROMISES TO BE ONE OF BEST OF SEASON

Grayling High School is getting all primed ready for what promises to be one of the best games of the season, when they take on West Branch tomorrow night (Friday). West Branch like Grayling and Gaylord has always turned out good basket ball teams and from reports they have a real fighting team this year.

Grayling too is playing good basket ball and when West Branch comes to town hope to add their scalp to their victories. A preliminary game between the reserves of both schools will be played and this will begin at 7:30 o'clock, the feature game following.

SELECT DELEGATES FOR WORLD CONFERENCE

Thirty men and boys from various towns in the Northern Y.M.C.A. District met in Petoskey in the Methodist church for the purpose of choosing delegates for the World's Conference which will be held in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, next July.

These World Conferences are held every five years. This is the first time to be held on this side of the ocean.

Our district is privileged to have one representative. Each school was invited to send one delegate to Petoskey meeting last Sunday and from these the group selected as their first choice, Lewis Berry of Choskey; Earl Lawrence of Petoskey; second, and Hugh D. Allen of Mancelona; and third, Bud San Carter of Grayling.

This will be a conference of men and older boys from forty nations and they have reserved a place for a limited number of outstanding students from the various colleges of the world. Also reserving two hundred seats for carefully selected boys who are still in High School. One hundred fifty of these to come from their nation and one hundred from the United States.

These conferences are held with the hope that out of meetings of this kind there may come a better international understanding and world brotherhood.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

One of the most important social questions to come before the present session of the legislature is that time worn old age pension problem. While it has become a perennial question, never before has it had the state wide support it has gained during the past two years and very likely it will approach if not attain a majority in the house at least.

"A dollar a day for all over seventy" is a catchy phrase which gives no hint of the vast amount of money required to finance such a policy.

But when reduced to totals it is found that $15,000,000 annually would be required at the outset to support those over 70, within the state, with-out property and with no responsible relatives to support them. Within five years the amount would be much less as clever ways of dodging the restrictions would be discovered and methods of disposing of property before the age of seventy can be devised. Aged from other states would turn their eyes this way and men and women who would never think of going "on the town" or the "poorhouse" would throw up their jobs and reduce their holdings so that they could qualify for the more dignified "old age pension." It is more than likely that within five years the cost of old age pensions alone would approach the present current tax budget of the state.

Is anyone brave enough to face responsibility for proposing that our present tax budget be doubled?

Michigan's present tax burden is caused by just such ill-considered ventures as the old age pension. Citizens widely disclaim against rising taxes with one breath and shout for new form of spending with the next.

In 1931 it is a good time to consider very seriously any new form of spending, no matter how altruistic it may appear.—Mason News.

EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS

We used to sleep a lot sounder on grandmother's feather beds in the days of our youth, but it may have been due not so much to the feather bed as to an easier conscience.

Our "American" paraders for Soviet Russia should be induced to import some of those banners carried at Moscow during the trials of the conspirators, inscribed: "Death to all enemies of the government."

WASHINGTON CURRENT COMMENTS

In a holiday radio broadcast, Mussolini declared for peace. Editorial comment is varied. Most of it boils down to this: "Is that so? Well! Well!"

Half a hundred eastern railroads are considering a merger, the details of which would be too intricate to discuss in this column, even if they were fully known. On the one hand, it seems reasonable to suppose that money could be saved for travelers and shippers if miles of parallel tracks and an army of highly-paid executives, could be done away with. Then, too, the endless squabbles of competing roads over access to large cities and to the seaboard is costly. Considering that busses, trucks, and privately owned autos have made of secondary consequence, a few miles more or less, between the house and the station, there may be something in the contention that there are too many railways in the territory affected by the merger. On the other hand, a representative in Congress voices a general suspicion when he says: "No consolidation scheme so far has been in the public interest, and if this is in the public interest, it will be a novelty."

English Seaplane Makes Speed of 140 M. P. H.

London.—Bit by bit new facts about the two large sea-going aircraft soon to be used by the royal air force experimental base for marine aircraft at Felixstowe are becoming known.

The short Valetta, said to be the largest floating seaplane in the world, is almost daily over the River Medway at Rochester.

It is now known that the Valetta has flown a little more than 140 miles an hour, and has carried a total load, including the structure, of more than ten tons.

The other partner in the new British flying couple is the Blackburn Sydney, a military flying boat with three moderately supercharged water-cooled Rolls Royce 500 horse power engines. This craft is also a monoplane and is designed in a slightly different form as a flying boat air liner. With the exception of the fabric covering the superstructure the aircraft is built entirely of metal. Nine tons constitutes the total weight of the loaded aircraft, which cruises at a speed of about 100 miles an hour. The craft can cruise from four to eight hours, depending on the load carried.

TEN-CENT DANCE COSTS $27,552

Girl Convinces Jury Man Gave Checks to "Make Baby Smile."

San Francisco.—"Taxi dancing," that dime-a-while entertainment which nightly draws crowds to dance halls in every part of the world, is considered inexpensive pleasure by many, but C. Harold Morehouse, married capitalist, has the opposite opinion.

Morehouse paid $27,552 to dance with petite Clara Banks Nelson, pretty Oakland taxi dancer, one month, during several months ago and started a chain of events that cost him $27,552 in one lump sum as their climax.

As a sequel there were two spicy trials on charges of grand theft for Mrs. Nelson and considerable publicity as well as domestic unhappiness for Mr. Morehouse.

Monopolized Her.

After that first dance for a dime Morehouse, it is alleged, spent several score more for similar whirls about the floor with Mrs. Nelson.

They were scattered over several months and an average of three nights a week during which the capitalist is said to have virtually monopolized the young woman as a dancing partner.

As a token of his feelings for her he also is alleged to have showered upon her pajamas, filmy underthings and other little gifts, never dreaming that these things later were to delight a courtroom full of curious and scandal-thirsty people.

Unknown to Morehouse, Mrs. Nelson's husband, Paul, of Modesto, Calif., was obtaining a divorce on charges of desertion and custody of their six-year-old son and Mrs. Nelson was annexing a real sweetheart in young Monte Cheney of a prominent Salt Lake City family.

She Got His Checks.

The story "hooked" when Morehouse went to the police and asked him in getting back from Mrs. Nelson three checks totaling $27,552 which she said she had taken from his pocket in the course of an automobile ride. Then, he said, she closed her own bank account and left town the very next morning.

Reluctantly Morehouse swore out a warrant for her. She was arrested several days later at Provo, Utah, with several diamond rings, a new automobile and a cashier's check for $5,000.

Why, he gave her those checks and to say that she stole them is to brand himself an infamously liar," Mrs. Nelson protested.

Nevertheless she was returned to Oakland for trial, for Morehouse was grudgingly determined to go through with it, although he said he felt that some one had "made a monkey" of him.

Trial Proves a "Scram."

The trial, from the standpoint of spectators, was a "scram."

Mrs. Nelson said that Morehouse had professed love for her, had showered her with gifts and money, taken her for automobile trips and begged her to marry him.

"He endorsed those checks and gave them to me with the remark: 'Doesn't that make my baby smile?'" she swore. "Then when I went into my bank to deposit them he stayed outside because he said he didn't want bank officials who knew him to think he was Santa Claus."

Right after that, Mrs. Nelson said, she found out Morehouse was married and had a father and was so "shocked and stunned" that she decided never to see him again.

Morehouse reluctantly admitted everything except that he had given Mrs. Nelson the checks. She had taken them from his pockets while he caressed her during an automobile ride, he insisted.

"Show me how she caressed you," invited Leo Sullivan, attorney for Mrs. Nelson.

"What?" gasped Morehouse.

"Show us how she loved you," Sullivan persisted.

"You ought to know," said the capitalist.

"How should I know?" was the attorney's quick comeback. "She never loved me but $27,000."

Out-Got Question.

The courtroom, despite the best efforts of bailiffs and judge, was in an uproar of merriment for fifteen minutes.

After several hours the jury was unable to agree.

Last week Mrs. Nelson went to trial again. This time the jury acquitted her after an hour's deliberation.

Bedlam broke loose in the courtroom. Men, women and children pressed about the judge congratulating her. She was carried to a waiting automobile on the shoulders of friends.

French Test Automatic

Safety Device for Trains

Paris.—An automatic device which mechanically halts any train that has passed a danger signal is being considered by French railway authorities.

The invention recently was demonstrated in Paris before French, American and South American traffic experts by Georges Koffer of Austria, who invented it. The device is attached to the engine. When the first danger signal is passed a whistle warns the engineer. If he does not act the train is automatically stopped.

TO GROW LEPROSY GERMS TO AID WAR ON DISEASE

Thousands of Leprosy Bacilli to Be Studied for Secrets by Scientists.

Washington.—A mass attack on one of the oldest and most feared diseases of mankind, leprosy, is now in progress. Thousands upon thousands of leprosy germs are to be grown in order that chemists and physicians may learn the most intimate secrets of this disease.

Scientific veterans of another battle, the offense against tuberculosis, have been called to do battle. The medical research committee of the National Tuberculosis association, headed by Dr. William Charles White, of the National Institute of Health of the United States public health service, at the request of the Leonard Wood Memorial, has undertaken an investigation of leprosy as an extension of its tuberculosis research.

Germs that cause tuberculosis and germs that cause leprosy are members of the same family. Leprosy bacilli, as the germs of leprosy are called, actually grow in the same cells of the human body, the monocytes, as the more common tuberculosis bacilli.

Encouraging reports come from leprosy in this country and abroad and leprosy are often discharged as apparently cured. The value of chemotherapy has been praised and this substance has been credited with curative powers. But specialists are not convinced that it lives up to its reputation.

Therefore this new attack. The 15 to 20 strains of leprosy bacilli that have been cultivated from human cases will be grown in quantity. The masses of germs will be taken to the Sterling Chemical Laboratory at Yale University, where Prof. T. B. Johnson and his associates will analyze them just as they picked tuberculosis bacilli to chemical pieces with startling results.

In tuberculosis germs chemists found the world's first poisonous sugar which kills tuberculosis animals and does not harm the uninfected. They found a fat that contained no living germs whatever, but nevertheless produced the tuberculosis or cell clumps characteristic of the disease.

Former Wives Get 80 Per Cent of Man's Pay

Milwaukee.—Alimony is a considerable item in the life of William Knuth, fifty-nine. Every month he must pay $90 of the $100 he earns as a mason for the Milwaukee railroad to the clerk of the Circuit court for the benefit of two former wives and two sets of children.

Wife No. 2, Martha Knuth, forty-seven, divorced William in Circuit Judge Arons' court recently on the ground of cruel treatment. She will get $30 a month alimony.

The court wanted to know how much William was in arrears in alimony to wife No. 1, Susan Knuth, who divorced him in 1925.

"It's $140, your honor," said William.

"No, it isn't, Judge. It's $100," piped up a voice from the rear of the courtroom, and then it developed that Susan had been an interested spectator unknown to the others concerned.

Because of the unusual burden on William-Judge Arons will allow him to live in the home at 109 Fifty-first street where Martha lives.

Bovine in Oregon Sets Two New World Records

Independence, Ore.—Breaking at one time two world records, one for milk, the other for butter fat, Golden Chief's Lady May, a pure-bred Jersey cow owned by Lloyd A. Hubbard of this city, recently yielded 19,022 pounds of milk and 808.55 pounds of butter fat in an official production test of 305 days.

Her milk yield exceeds by almost a ton the existing 305-day world record of 18,047 pounds of Jersey milk production, all ages, established in 1928 by "Tormentor's" Saucy Mags, a cow owned by E. M. Sherman, Charles City, Iowa.

Her butter-fat yield breaks the existing world butter-fat record of the Jersey breed for mature cows, 305 day tests, established in 1927 by Post's Mabel Mowat, owned by Karl Hansmann of Portland, Ore.

Famous Eagle Family of Ohio Loses Member

Lorain, Ohio.—The famous family of eagles which has lived near Vermillion, Ohio, for several generations is smaller by one member.

The body of one of the stately birds, one of the few in this part of the country not in captivity, was found in a wood near here recently by a farmer.

The bird had been shot through the breast.

Dr. Francis H. Herrick, professor of biology at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, who has studied the eagles for years, termed the shooting a tragedy.

Add List of Thieves—the Airplane "Stripper"

Los Angeles.—Motocyclists have been bothered for years by accessory thieves. Now comes the airplane "stripper." Thomas Tribble, manager of the American airport, reported to police today that thieves had entered a hangar at the field and taken all the instruments, valued at nearly $1,000, from one of the planes stored there.

"Rainbow Chasing"

According to the ancient tale, if anyone succeeds in reaching the spot where the rainbow touches the earth and digs there that one will surely find a pot of gold buried there. The phrase "rainbow chasing" is derived from this old yarn, and the term is used to designate one who strives for things impossible of attainment; hence, a visionary or day dreamer.—Literary Digest.

Ten Italian Planes Make Flight From Africa to Brazil at Cost of Five Lives—Doings in Congress—Unemployment Decreasing.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Gen. Balbo

ITALY'S "air armada," conquered the Atlantic ocean, but at the expense of five lives. Of the fourteen big seaplanes that started from Rome for Brazil, ten made the flight across the sea successfully. Two crashed immediately after the take-off at Bolama, Portuguese Guinea; one man was killed in the fall of the first, and the entire crew of four perished when the second fell and burst into flames. The two replacement planes that were in the squadron were ordered into flight after these mishaps, and both of them were forced down by mechanical trouble not far from the Brazilian penal island of Fernando do Noronha. Their crews were picked up by Italian destroyers that were patrolling the route.

Of the ten planes that got across safely, the first to land at Natal, Brazil, was the one piloted by Gen. Italo Balbo, Italian air minister, who commanded the armada. The second was piloted by Colonel Maddalena, holder of the world's distance and endurance records. General Balbo was highly elated by the success of the flight, saying it was greater than he had expected, despite the misfortunes at Bolama. The aviators were given a great welcome at Natal, and later in the week, when they flew on to Rio de Janeiro, were the recipients of a wonderful ovation in that capital city. The planes are all to be sold to the Brazilian government, but may first be flown to Buenos Aires and back. They are of the Savoia-Marchetti "55" type adopted as bombing planes by the Italian navy and on the transatlantic flight each carried four men and radio telephone and telegraph sets.

NEARLY seven months of intensive and careful work by detectives and newspaper men has resulted in the arrest of the man who is declared to be the murderer of Alfred Lingie, a reporter for the Chicago Tribune. The law authorities in Chicago assert that mysterious crime that excited the entire country is now cleared up. The accused man is Leo Brothers, a gunman of St. Louis where he has a long police record. He was quietly arrested in Chicago on December 21, but the capture was kept secret while the officials completed their investigation.

Brothers, who in Chicago went under the name of Louis V. Ender, answers the description of Lingie's assassin and is said to have been positively identified by witnesses to the murder. The officials declare he was hired to slay Lingie, but refuse for the present to tell who hired him or to name the witnesses who identify him. Neither would they reveal any of the proof they say they have of his guilt.

CONGRESS no sooner resumed its session after the holidays than the opponents of the administration resumed their troublesome tactics. These centered for the time being largely about the proposed appropriation for drought relief. The house passed the bill carrying $45,000,000 for this purpose, but the senate promptly amended it by adding $15,000,000 for the purpose of loans to farmers for food. Senator Caraway of Arkansas sponsored this move. He declared he knew there was extreme suffering in the country districts of his state, and his assertions were strengthened by the reports that hundreds of farmers had rioted for food at England, Ark., and were appeased to some extent by gifts of food from the Red Cross.

John Barton Payne, head of the Red Cross, in testimony before the committee on appropriations, denied there was a riot at England and said that 500 persons had been quietly fed after "about forty men came in with some excitement" and demanded food.

The administration does not think congressional appropriations for food are necessary or wise. The radicals and perhaps some other members of congress more than intimate that President Hoover and his advisers are cold blooded and heartless in this matter.

EIGHT United States marines were ambushed and killed by Nicaraguan bandits on New Year's day, and as a result the senate, on motion of Senator Johnson of California, called on the State department for a comprehensive report on the use of our marines in the Central American republic. Evidently the old question is to be debated again in congress. However, Secretary of State Stimson said the administration plans to keep the marines in Nicaragua at least until after the 1932 elections. This will be

In accord with the wishes of the Nicaraguan government, President Jose Moncada stated he believed it would be unwise to withdraw the marines at this time; he added that he would like to insure additional co-operation of Nicaraguans with the United States force in an effort to stamp out banditry. His government, he said, is trying to obtain a loan of $1,000,000, part of which would be used to strengthen the national guard for this purpose.

BEST news of the week was that many thousands of men were being put back to work, especially by the railroads and the automobile manufacturers. The tension of the unemployment situation was appreciably lessened. The Chicago & Northwestern system returned nearly 7,000 employees to their jobs in the mechanical and car departments which had been closed since December 24. These departments were reopened on a three day-a-week basis. The Monon lines took back nearly 800 men on a part time basis, and the Santa Fe and the Rock Island lines were preparing to give at least temporary jobs to hundreds. Other thousands, mainly shopmen, were returned to work by the Illinois Central, the Norfolk & Western, the Missouri Pacific, the New York Central and the Southern Pacific.

In Detroit and Cleveland the automobile factories were humming again. Twenty-two thousand men were recalled to the plants in the Detroit area Monday, and in the Ohio city not only the motor car makers but many other industries added to their pay rolls.

RESPONDING to a resolution of the senate asking for information on the subject, Secretary of Labor William M. Doak reported that approximately 400,000 aliens are now illegally residing in the United States, and that of this total, 25 per cent, or 100,000, are deported.

M. W. Littleton

portable under the provisions of the immigration act. In order to facilitate the federal program of deporting undesirable who are illegally residing in the country, several suggestions were made by Mr. Doak for changes in the present law, among them one for strengthening the law relative to the deportation of those aliens "who are affiliated with or organizations which advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States."

That last phrase, of course, means chiefly the communists, and it is interesting to note that a big anti-communist mass meeting, presided over by Martin W. Littleton, was held in Carnegie hall, New York city, Friday, at which a resolution calling for the exclusion of those disturbers was adopted. Representatives of the leading civic, patriotic, labor and church organizations of America took part in the meeting, and Congressman Hamilton Fish told something of the findings of his congressional committee of investigation into the activities of the Reds.

TREASURER JOSEPH R. NUTT of the Republican national committee told Senator Nye's committee that Robert H. Lucas exceeded his authority and made a mistake of judgment in pledging the national committee's special account to secure the $400,000 he borrowed to finance his anti-Norris propaganda. But Mr. Nutt said he didn't blame Mr. Lucas for fighting Norris and added that he had loaned Lucas $500 a few days ago to pay off the bank loan. The committee's special account, he said, was not a slush fund but was created to help out in certain congressional districts.

MORE trouble for the administration is brewing in the matter of immediate payment of the World War veterans' adjusted compensation certificates in cash. Representative Patman of Texas, sponsor of the bill for such payment, said it was likely the house would discharge Senator A. H. the way and means Vandenberg.

When the news of the measure so that action could be obtained. He asked a petition for this course had been signed by members from many states who believe, with him, that unfair tactics have been employed to defeat the bill.

Senator A. E. Vandenberg of Michigan, an administration supporter, was actively seeking to bring about some sort of compromise. He favors legislation to permit veterans to borrow up to 50 per cent of the ultimate value of their certificates. But this doesn't satisfy Patman. "Our nation," said the Texan, "is the wealthiest on earth. It owes less in proportion to wealth than any other country. It has given billions of dollars to other countries in recent years and much of it was used to pay their own veterans' adjusted pay and bonuses up to $7,000 each. "We can pay the veterans in cash now by selling bonds at the lowest interest rate in the history of our nation and retire the last one of those bonds in three or four years. By diverting payments from the public debt, which is already overpaid up to this time, no increase in taxes will be necessary now or later."

Ricardo Alfaro

PANAMA started the New Year off with a bang and added to the list of Latin American nations that have set up new governments by force. This revolution, however, lasted less than twenty-four hours and was accompanied with very little bloodshed.

When it was over, Florencio H. Arosemena had given up his office of president and was under arrest at the home of a cousin who was one of the revolutionists, the government was in the hands of a junta and Dr. Harmodio Arias was named acting president.

The office of president was at once offered by cable to Ricardo Alfaro, Panama's minister to the United States, asking him, if he accepted, to return at once from Washington. Alfaro took only four hours to decide, and then accepted the call and began to wind up his affairs in the American capital. He is a veteran liberal and has been minister in Washington for nine years. It was believed by the revolutionists that his close relations with the American government would tend to hasten the recognition of the new regime by President Hoover.

For a day or two it seemed likely that Panama City would be attacked by a small army of armed farmers from the Chiriqui district where is the country seat of Vice President Tomas Duque, an adherent of Arosemena. But the provisional government placed machine guns on the highways leading into the city, and the counter revolt faded into nothingness.

Secretary of State Stimson conferred with President Hoover on the matter of recognition, and, while no statement was given out, the indications were that the Alfaro government would be recognized after some delay.

MODIFICATION of the so-called consent decree of 1920, ordered by Justice Jennings Bailey of the District of Columbia Supreme court, greatly loosens the restrictions imposed on the big packing companies. The Armour, Swift, Cudahy and Wilson concerns are now permitted to engage in the manufacture and sale of nearly all classes of food commodities. But they are not allowed to enter the retail end.

Justice Bailey, holding that retail activity by the packers "would probably result in almost complete annihilation of the independent retail grocers."

ONE day after that denying the report that he was about to resign, George Akerson, secretary to President Hoover, handed in his resignation to the considerable relief of the Chief Executive's supporters. As his successor, prominent Republican in Washington Representative Franklin Fort of New Jersey.

Mr. Fort will leave public life on March 4. He was the unsuccessful dry candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States senate last spring, being defeated by Dwight W. Morrow.

FRANCE paid the Lion of the Marne at rest with all possible honor, and the name of Joseph Joffre, marshal of the republic, is now added to those of the other famed leaders in the World war who have passed on. Claud in the black tulle and red breeches he wore in 1914, Joffre lay in state for two days in the chapel of the war college. On his breast was only one decoration, the Medaille Militaire which is granted only to army commanders and privates. Tuesday night the body was taken on a gun carriage, escorted by cavalry holding torches, under the Arc de Triomphe to the Cathedral of Notre Dame, Wednesday morning in the cathedral the services were conducted by Cardinal Verdier, archbishop of Paris. The remains were then placed in a vault in the chapel of the Invalides besides the biers of Napoleon. Feet and other national heroes. They will remain there for several weeks and will then be buried at the Joffre country home at Louveciennes, not far from Paris.

When the news of the marshal's death was given to the war minister, the French government from all countries. German war commanders and the German press were as lavish in their praise of the dead man as were those of the allied nations. One of the warmest tributes came from Gen. Hermann von Kuhl, the man whom Joffre defeated at the Marne. All of which was highly gratifying to the marshal's mourning fellow countrymen.

BLOODY AUBURN PRISON CHANGED SINCE REVOLT

Trouble Makers and Hardened Criminals Have Been Deprived of Their Power.

Auburn, N. Y.—Auburn prison, nearly a year after it experienced one of the bloodiest riots in prison history, has taken on a new appearance.

The century-old institution appears much the same on the outside, but inside the entire scheme of things has been altered.

New forces are at work. "Trouble makers and hardened criminals have lost their power. Some are in 'solitary.' Others have been transferred to Clinton prison, Dannemora, and to other state institutions.

There have been many mechanical changes. New systems of doors have been installed. The prison is not as open as it once was, for doors separate different sections of the institution, much on the same plan as a ship.

The open stairway, leading from the first floor to the basement, where the principal keeper George J. Dunford was shot to death, has been closed with steel walls. On the fifth tier in the south wing walls are now bare of mirrors. Ernest Pavel and Steve Wink, two of the slain rioters, made good use of mirrors to watch the progress of their pursuers.

The application of paint has brightened up the prison considerably. In the south wing, where the riot last December reached its climax, the bullet marked and blood-spattered walls have been covered with pumpkin yellow paint.

The mess hall has been painted white, as have the hallways leading to it.

Discipline is strict, and when a convict disobeys orders or causes trouble swift justice follows. Solitary confinement, and all that goes with it, is the penalty.

The first of a series of monthly dinners to be given by the Board of Trade is announced for next Tuesday evening, January 20th, by Pres. Emil Kraus.

The occasion will be known as "Marston Night" and is given in honor of T. F. Marston, of Gray, who will be their guest that night. An interesting program of talks is being planned for the occasion. The dinner will be given at the Clubroom at 6:30 p. m. sharp, and plates will be $1.00 each.

At this time of the year plans need to be made for the coming summer season and it is hoped and expected that we may be able to get a line on matters that may guide the Board in its efforts to bring to Crawford county its share of the summer tourist business. And there will be other matters of vital importance to Grayling that will be brought up for discussion.

Let's show our interest by having a big attendance at the banquet. Buy a ticket and then BE THERE! The lack of attendance is a discouragement, while a large crowd cannot but help to inspire your officers and committee.

PATRONIZE THE TOBOGGAN SLIDE

It is urged that local people cooperate with the Winter Sports Association in using the slide that has been built at Lake Margrethe. It opened Wednesday night and although the weather has been bad for such sport, very few have been out there. It costs considerable to build the slide and keep it in shape and you should make an effort to help support it. The bulletin board in front of the Post Office will keep you posted as to what is doing at the slide and so you may be informed. Get a toboggan and some warm clothes and take in the slide whenever possible. The business men have contributed a lot of money and time to make this enterprise possible and their efforts should not go unrewarded.

TOP O' MICHIGAN POTATO SHOW ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING

At Gaylord Court House Tuesday, January 20

The Annual Meeting of the Top O' Michigan Potato Association will be held at the Gaylord Court House on Tuesday afternoon, January 20th, at 1:30 o'clock, Standard Time. The report of last year's Potato Show will be given by Secretary M. C. Mellenkamp, along with the financial report by Treasurer F. W. Dilworth. Officers and directors for the new year will be elected.

Plans of a bigger and better Show in 1931 will be discussed. Year by year the Show has prospered and expanded and only it is a vital agricultural force in the activities of Northern Michigan. Starting out in 1922 in a very small way with only four counties contributing, and with only potato entries competing, it has grown until today we have twelve counties financing the Show, and exhibiting not only potatoes but apples, and last year alfalfa seed for the first time. Many believe a new grain department should be placed in the premium books for another year. This last year in spite of the adverse conditions a fine financial statement can be boasted.

A cordial invitation is extended to all business men and farmers to meet with the directors and officers and help formulate plans for a bigger and better Show for 1931. Yours very truly, B. C. Mellenkamp, Sec. Top O' Michigan Potato Show Association.

An Ancient Beggar

There is a story told of an ancient beggar which stands re-telling. And the interesting part of the story has not to do with the beggar. Rather we are impressed with the way the presence of the beggar affected those who passed by. For he had been a beggar for a long time and had become a familiar sight on the streets. He had been so long upon the streets that the multitude came to think of him as another spectacle. John described him as a "familiar sight." And therein lies the pathos of the story. He was no longer a person but was merely a "familiar sight." We become hardened in the constant presence of unfortunate human beings. We take tragic situations for granted. And after the first deep impression made upon us, we grow calloused in the face of human need.

It is told to us that an American visitor once wrote home to a friend after he had visited London: "You must visit the Victoria Embankment and see the people sleeping on the benches. They are the most interesting 'types.' And that is the heart-breaking part of it. These people were only 'types.' And when we approach life that way, we haven't much to offer. Jesus saw a beggar as a potential person. The townspeople saw him as a 'familiar sight.' To be a Christian must surely mean to have a Christ sense of human values and appreciations.

Well might we say that we shall continue to be sensitive in the presence of human need and be forever able to see beggars as brothers.

ST. HELEN

The town board of Richfield township held a special meeting on Monday afternoon to accept the resignation of Frank Richardson as supervisor and appoint a successor. At the fall election Mr. Richardson was elected to the office of county road commissioner, hence his resignation as supervisor. Mr. Frank Nellist, Keno, was appointed by the board to fill the vacancy. Mr. Nellist is well and favorably known in Roscommon and the surrounding counties and his appointment will give general satisfaction.

The board also took action on the question of allowing dancing in the town hall at St. Helen. For a number of years the board has permitted these dances, but lately a rather tough outside element has been in attendance, and conducted themselves in a manner hard for the local management to control. This finally occasioned a protest to the town board, and it was unanimously decided to prohibit the use of the town hall for public dances.

Historic Pear Tree

The famous Endicott pear tree is at Danversport, near Danvers, Mass. It was planted in 1632 by Gov. John Endicott on his land there and is still the property of the Endicott family. William Crowningshield Endicott, owner of the tree, believes that it was planted in Governor Endicott's garden at Salem even before it was planted at Danvers and that it was brought from a nursery in England in 1630.

RADIO TO LAND PLANES SAFELY

Device Enables Fog-Blinded Pilot to Slide Correctly to Field.

College Park, Md.—Making the air safe for airplanes is the task of the United States bureau of standards, whose scientists are working at the landing field laboratory here.

Radio is being made a servant of aviation and fog-blinded airmen are about to be given instruments which will substitute for their eyes.

A radio signal along which the fog-bound airplane can slide for a happy landing is the latest achievement for the scientists. H. Diamond and F. W. Dunmore have just submitted a report to the National Academy of Sciences which tells of this new device for guiding the airplane down to ground once the landing field is reached.

Radio Beam Set.

At the side of the landing field opposite to that on which the airplane arrives a radio beam sending set is located. It shoots a three-meter radio beam signal over the landing runway at an angle of eight degrees above the horizontal. The arriving airplane must have a special radio receiver of simple construction, consisting of an antenna, detector, single stage of audio-frequency rectifier and a loudspeaker on the instrument board which the pilot can read.

If the airplane is so handled that the landing of this instrument is kept constant, the ship will come to ground on a curved line which is just right for a good landing.

This device takes care of the difficult problem of getting down out of the air when night or fog prevents visibility.

Straightaway Beam.

The bureau of standards scientists already have conquered the problem of keeping on a straight and narrow path between two landing fields by devising the visual radio beacon, now installed for practical use at Detroit, and Bellefonte, Pa., as well as College Park, Md. Radio signals are sent on two frequencies in such a way that when two beams on the airplane's instruments board vibrate at the same amplitude the airplane is on its proper course.

A field boundary marker beacon is now being developed by the research at College Park. This will be a signal that can be picked up by the incoming airplane in such a way that the pilot will be notified that he is at the edge of the field.

Ancient Log Strata Is Found in South Dakota

Piedmont, S. D.—Seven million years ago a tropical jungle that covered this region sank and was overwhelmed by the sea. Today men with picks and shovels unearth stone fragments of those trees.

Half uncovered agatized cypress logs or other petrified tropical vegetation now gleams through the rubbish of a forest carpet that extends over an area of nearly 500 acres.

Sandstone and limestone formed atop the forest. Later upheavals brought this strata to the surface and as the softer layers wore away the petrified fragments were revealed.

Furners and stockmen in the vicinity had known of the stone logs protruding through the debris, but not until this summer was an attempt made to determine the extent of the forest.

In their new form the old logs are tinted in new, bright colors, due to varying compounds in the fibers of the wood. Even the lichens or warts on some of the trees were left discernible. Decayed wood markings were retained in this forest, although geologists claim this is unusual in petrified woods.

One-Trip Plumbers Get License in Indiana

Indianapolis, Ind.—A giant stride toward the millennium has been recorded in the office of Indiana's secretary of state. "The One-Trip Plumbers" have registered their trademark. The corporation, with headquarters at Rock Island, Ill., accompanied its registration with photographs of its truck emblazoned with the words: "The One-Trip Plumbers." Fully registered, the firm now may do business in Indiana.

Baby Swallows Fish

New Orleans.—Doctors in a hospital here were puzzled when eighteen-month-old Floyd Foght was admitted to the institution in a dying condition but apparently with no serious ailment.

One of the doctors ran forceps down the infant's throat and pulled. Out came a whole fish. The infant quickly recovered.

Pike Bites Off Hand of French Fisherman

Pontoise, France.—Jacques Boubon, fishing in the Oleg river, caught a 23-pound pike. As he drew the big fish into his boat it snapped at him, severing his left hand just above the wrist.

Great Italian Poet

Petrarch was born in Arezzo, July, 1304, and died at Arqu, July, 1374. He is considered the first and greatest lyric poet of Italy.

Albert Einstein, the eminent scientist-politician, advocates in Europe the repudiation of all European debts to the United States, and in America the disarming of the United States. There seems to be some relativity in the two ideas.

THE MARKET BASKET

(By the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the President's Emergency Committee for Employment.)

A plan to make every cent spent for food count in preventing malnutrition and in maintaining health has been developed by the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the President's Emergency Committee for Employment. This food plan or guide is designed, primarily, to help families with low incomes, according to the announcement made by Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, chairman of the Woman's Division of the Committee.

"This winter many families throughout the country are confronted with the problem of getting a satisfactory food supply with very little ready cash," says Doctor Gilbreth. "Our immediate relief necessity is no longer conservation. What we need to know now is how to spend money wisely for food."

Doctor Gilbreth has appealed to the women of the country, and to the many organizations with Mr. Hoover on food during the war period to rally and meet the demands of this new problem that faces the Nation. "Our food standards," she says, "must not be lowered or adults will suffer and the children may be handicapped for life."

"Because of the drought there is less than the usual reserve of home produced foods and in many rural sections practically everything must be bought," she points out. "In periods, such as we are experiencing now, the lack of funds will result in a diet which is not properly balanced from the standpoint of health. For this reason the President's Emergency Committee for Employment asked the Bureau of Home Economics to work out an adequate diet at the lowest possible cost."

The following food guide has been tested thoroughly by the bureau, and the diet outlined will prove adequate from the standpoint of thrift as well as health. The bureau will also offer weekly articles dealing with food news, and these articles the food guide will be applied to families of differing sizes. The articles will outline the kinds and quantities of foods required, and, where practicable, prices will be quoted.

Most of the foods shown are what are known as staples, so, with the exception of meat, the price fluctuation throughout the country is not especially great. The bureau will suggest, from time to time, new and attractive ways to prepare the simple foods in order to offset monotony.

Family Food Guide

Every meal—Milk for children, bread for all.
Every day—Cereal in porridge or puddings. Potatoes, Tomatoes (or oranges) for children. A green or yellow vegetable. A fruit or additional vegetable.
Two to four times a week—Tomatoes for all. Dried beans and peas or peanuts. Eggs (especially for children). Lean meat, fish or poultry, or cheese.

Simple Meals Are Best

Families with limited incomes, as a rule, do not need to be reminded that simple meals are always best, says the Bureau of Home Economics. When the income is small most adults as well as children will find their appetites are satisfied with an abundance of a few foods rather than a little of several things.

You can follow your family food guide, the bureau advises, if you serve meat or fish three or four times a week as the main dish for dinner. Other days you may choose cheese, baked beans or a thick pea or bean stew.

The meat allowance is small but its flavor can be extended and the whole meal made more palatable if vegetables are cooked with it. Other ways in which this can be done are by stuffing, making dumplings and gravy, or by cooking the meat with potatoes, rice or macaroni. The skillful use of onions, carrots, celery and tomatoes in small amounts heightens the flavor of stews and soups while at the same time it adds to the attractiveness of meals. You should definitely plan to use part of the weekly allowance of vegetables for this purpose.

Potatoes and one other vegetable or fruit should be served every day for dinner. Some days the vegetables may be served raw as a salad. Canned tomatoes, shredded cabbage, grated carrots and turnips, sliced onions, and green beans may be eaten raw with salt or salad dressing. They are delicious and more nourishing than cooked. Then none of the mineral salts or vitamins are lost. This also saves fuel cost.

A dessert is not absolutely necessary but adds interest and flavor to the diet. Some inexpensive and very good ones include bread, rice or Indian pudding and shortcake made with dried fruit.

Market News

Where fresh milk costs more than ten to twelve cents a quart we suggest that unsweetened canned milk or dry skim milk be substituted for the greater part of the milk allowance. The index calls for a large quantity of cereal and milk, the two things which supply the greatest food value for the money.

In choosing your meats be sure to adapt your menu for the day to the prices in your local markets. There are many inexpensive cuts to choose from ranging in price from 8 to 25 cents a pound. The flavor is equally as good as the more costly kind and from week to week we will give you recipes for serving them in different ways. In most parts of the country lamb is cheaper than it has been in years and there is a plentiful supply of it.

Potatoes and the other root vegetables are reasonably low in price this year as are citrus fruits. Tomatoes or citrus fruit are essential to the diet as families living by the Food Index. A No. 2 can of tomatoes, which is medium sized, ought not to cost more than 12 cents. Flour is cheaper than it has been in years, about 4½ cents a pound but bread has remained at about the same price. Baking your own bread may mean a saving, providing there is time and the cost of fuel is taken into consideration.

SOME AMERICAN OBSESSIONS

By Jay Taylor

Forest experts in the Department of Commerce tell us that ten million Christmas trees are now used annually. It is found to be a great help to timber conservation when the trees are carefully cut from the dense forests.

All important members of the League of Nations have always had the right to present the World Court from giving an advisory opinion on any question that they would object to. Senate Reservation V was adopted for the purpose of giving the same right to the United States.

But our European friends, who are not willing to let America enjoy equal rights with them, have written as a substitute for Reservation V a new protocol which is now before the Senate for adoption or rejection.

Senator Pepper, who had much to do with writing Reservation V, has examined carefully this new protocol, which is long and complicated, and the senator assures us that it has a joker in every paragraph and that it is a subtle attempt to tie up with the League of Nations through the Court.

A most important question involved in the present controversy is whether reservations to protect the interests of the United States shall be made by the American Senate or by European diplomats representing the League of Nations.

"Candlepower" and "Watt"
Candlepower is the illuminating power, as of a lamp or gas flame, reckoned in terms of the light of a standard candle. Watt is the practical unit of electric power, activity, or rate of work, equivalent to 10.7 ergs or 1 joule per second, or approximately 1/740 of a horsepower.

Intelligence of Fish
A German naturalist tested the hearing of fish by blowing a high-pitched whistle when he threw food into a pond, and by blowing a low blast when he provided them with a glass rod, and he found that they learned to come or to hide as the whistle warned them.
